DRESS CODE

Appropriate clothing and attire are required to take part in the Conference.

A formal suit or separate with a smart shirt, a tie or similar alternatives are accepted. In the case of a formal dress or skirt, the length must hit at or below the knee. Bright colours are strongly recommended against, as is denim.

Shoes must be elegant; while heels are allowed, avoid sneakers and sandals.

Delegates should not wear sunglasses or anything which draws unnecessary attention, including flags, slogans or logos.

The GeMUN committee reserves the right not to admit those who are not dressed appropriately without any further justification.

LETTER FROM THE SECRETARY GENERAL

Dear participants of GeMUN 2023,

My name is Vittoria Valeri-Hauser, I'm seventeen years old and this year I am honoured to serve as Secretary General of the 20th annual session of Genoa Model United Nations.

My first MUN experience dates back to GeminiMUN 2019, where I was speaking on behalf of New Zealand in the Disarmament and International Security Committee. Never could I have imagined then what a significant role GeMUN would, to this day, play in my high school career. After challenging myself as a delegate of Mexico in the same committee, and of Morocco in the Social, Humanitarian & Cultural Committee, I had the opportunity to serve as officer, specifically as a chair of the Economic and Social Council in 2021 and President of the 2022 GeMUN Security Council. Last year I also had the pleasure of serving as Master of Ceremony, working alongside the secretariat and learning all about what it takes to make an international conference like GeMUN come together.

Genoa Model United Nations is a great opportunity for students to truly get a grasp of the world of diplomacy in a way that encourages constructive dialogue and to explore alternative perspectives from both cultural and social points of view. We are therefore very privileged to be organising the 20th edition of this conference.

Over time, the event has grown not just in the number and variety of participants that GeMUN brings together, but also in the collaboration and involvement of the city of Genoa, not least because the debates are now held in some of the city's beautiful and historic palaces.

What unites these twenty years is that each generation of delegates has shown a passion and interest for the key events that are going on in the world today, with their likely ramifications into the future. Their commitment has led to the realisation that diplomacy is in fact the platform for finding solutions.

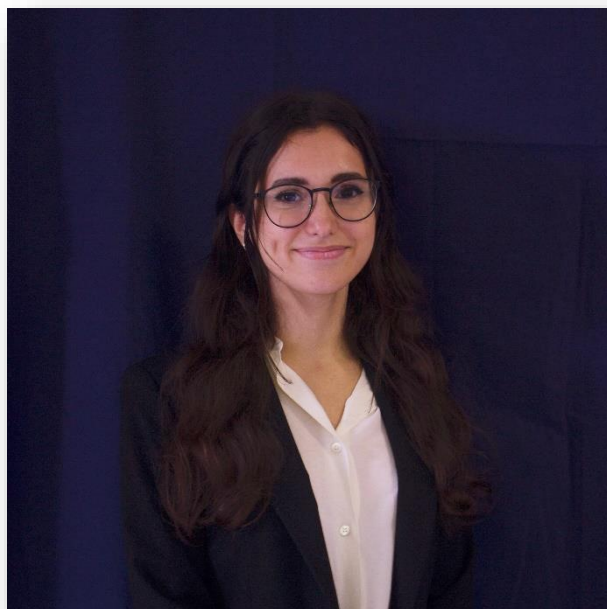

This is exactly what the focus of GeMUN 2023 will be: "Echoes of our times." With our economies and society being so interconnected, never before in our lifetime have we witnessed such a series of causes and effects echoing through time and space in the medium and long term. In such challenging and uncharted waters, that influence and impact so many people, diplomacy has a key role to help define new patterns and alternatives. At a time of conflict such as this, GeMUN wants its participants to ponder on how the events of today, like echoes that cannot be halted, will impact the future.

It is important to think about how to resolve conflicts, just as much as it is to understand the likely consequences to minimize their negative impacts. This is why I cannot wait to see all of us working together, debating and exchanging points of view. I am thrilled to finally bring the echoes of our different perspectives together and show that we can create harmony out of them.

I look forward to seeing and meeting you all in February and, most importantly, I hope you will enjoy this year's session and carry out fruitful debates!

Yours faithfully,

Vittoria Valeri-Hauser

LETTER FROM THE UNDER SECRETARY GENERALS

Dear participants of GeMUN 2023,

We are Matteo Marinucci and Viola Costa and we have the honour to serve as Under Secretary Generals in GeMUN 2023.

It is our pleasure to welcome you all to the 20th annual session of Genoa Model United Nations!

Despite all the challenges we have faced in the past few years, we are getting back to the everydayness that was taken from us due to recent events and we're happy to say that we are still standing!

All the conflicts, from those that struck out many years ago to the most recent ones, violations of Human Rights, inequalities and, last but not least, Covid have had serious repercussions on our world and all our lives. The theme this year is aimed to analyse how things that happen around the world will impact our future, either positively or negatively. We can look at the events happening around us as a sound wave that, by broadening, is causing changes that have an impact on each and every one of us.

However, the game is ours to play, we are the ones to call the shots. The clock is ticking, so we must take action now or we will get to a point of no return. It's up to us not to leave the things that influence our lives in the hands of somebody else but to really embrace our present and past in order to ponder on them and be able to bring a change to the world of tomorrow for both ourselves and everyone else. This can only happen through our efforts, first by caring about what happens around us and taking action about it. We would like to wish you to start taking action during GeMUN by really committing to the debate, by preparing for it and by taking it forward in a way that makes these days fruitful and inspiring for yourselves and your colleagues.

To conclude, the only thing we ask of you is for these debate sessions to have meaning. For them not to be just an experience to leave in a drawer once you go back home. But for them to be a means, a tool that you can make use of in your daily lives. Therefore, we would like to warmly invite you all to start your own domino effect of positive change.

We hope that Gemun 2023 will be an unforgettable experience for each and every one of you. We are looking forward to meeting you all soon.

Yours faithfully,

Viola and Matteo

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT OF ICJ

Dear participants of GeMUN 2023,

My name is Giorgia Zilioli, and I am delighted to welcome you all to the 20th edition of our Genoa Model United Nations conference as President of the International Court of Justice.

It is a great honour for me to be here writing this letter. A couple of years ago I would never have imagined that my GeMUN experience would come to such a conclusion. Everything almost started as a game: when the former President of ICJ asked me to participate, I considered it as an interesting activity to break the quarantine's monotony I was drowning into. So I simply sat in front of my computer without any particular expectation, well dressed but with my favourite pyjama trousers on. Originally, I thought to myself I would not have the courage to take the floor, but this assumption turned out to be false just about 20 minutes into the debate. In fact, my first MUN saw a little and frightened judge transforming into a hyperactive creature who asked about a trillion questions. At the end I was exhausted, but I had never been more enthusiastic. After that began my journey from judge to advocate, and finally to President of the Court.

When I think about my GeMUN experience, I suppose I can consider myself quite lucky: after joining the ICJ I never thought of changing committee. However, though it might seem strange, taking part in GeMUN was not a life-changing event itself. It was indeed important, but the real turning point was - and still is - finding great colleagues. During the past three years I had the chance to meet extraordinary people: clever, interested, dedicated, bright, ingenious, sharp-witted, hard-working, always ready to improve, hungry for knowledge; they have made all the difference. There was - and still is - something spectacular and inspirational about seeing such passion and dedication in an environment whose stereotype is to be cold and apathetic. Every time I enter the Court, my fellow colleagues remind me of every single lesson ICJ taught me. Because, after all, it was not the Court of Justice but rather its members who made me understand the unique value my opinion holds; the importance of building said opinion weighing every factor and piece of information; the subtle art of looking at the big picture; the non-existence of an all-black or all-white truth; the benefit of constructive dialogue and cooperation. I could go on for lines.

Most people assume in the ICJ there is a specific hierarchy, but I deem it a lie. Even as a President, I am not the teacher nor the mentor: they are mine. It is part of the beauty of the ICJ, everyone can learn from each other priceless lessons, because no one is there to teach but to learn. No title or position will ever substitute the members of the Court I met during these years, which is the reason why I feel incredibly honoured to finish this inestimable journey as President.

It is my pleasure to introduce the case that we will be trying this year: "Application of the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination". It concerns a dispute between Azerbaijan and Armenia over the conflictual situation in the Nagorno-Karabakh area. More specifically, the Court will discuss and deliberate on whether the actions carried out by the Respondent have resulted in a violation of its obligations under international law. I wish you all a memorable GeMUN experience and I look forward to welcoming you into our courtroom in February.

Yours sincerely,

Giorgia Zilioli

LETTER FROM THE HEADS OF STAFF AND SECURITY

Honourable Participants, fellow Officers and Delegates, indispensable Staff, Press and Security,

We are delighted, after months and months of hard work, to welcome you all to the astonishing Genoa Model United Nations 2023. Ever since GeMUN has become a tradition in our beloved city, our aim is to bring us all together and to make you feel like you have never left home, in a place where to share thoughts, opinions and cultures. To take part into GeMUN as members of staff and security means being the whole skeleton of an extremely complex structure, which needs determined and strong individuals who are able to go the extra mile to achieve such goals. Hard times, responsibilities, and issues are no burdens for us, because we've learned in our careers to work together and cooperate to solve the toughest difficulties.

Our main concern is your safety and, during these three days, we'll do everything in our power to ensure that everything goes smoothly. A member of our team will always be available to assist you with any problems or inconveniences, in addition to coordinating an efficient session. However, our efforts have started well before the conference, since there were months of preparation during which our groups met on a weekly basis to work on even the tiniest details of this GeMUN, from all the information in the handbook to all the material that you will be using during the conferences in the beautiful palaces of Genoa's city centre. It has taken a lot of hard work to make this happen, and we truly hope that you will enjoy every moment of this incredible experience.

We would like to thank each of the GeMUN attendees, especially our MUN directors Eduardo Losada Cabruja and Daniele Orlando for teaching us that success is earned by hard work and efforts.

Moreover, we are glad to work with the Secretary General Vittoria Valeri. Last but not least, special recognition to our fellow staff and security, without whom this project would not have been possible.

Yours faithfully,

Sofia Velardo, Martina Barbieri, Luisa Fusco, Gabriele Lo Sicco

LETTER FROM THE HEADS OF PRESS

Distinguished Participants, fellow Officers and Delegates, hard working members of Press, Security and Staff of GeMUN 2023,

We are glad to introduce ourselves as Heads of the Press Team. Our names are Serena Albanese and Federica Rizzi and we are both currently attending our last year at Liceo Linguistico Internazionale Grazia Deledda.

After those months we are extremely proud of our team, formed by more than twenty members, between Reporters, Photographers and Illustrators, who work together in order to publish the GeMUN newspaper, update the Facebook and Instagram pages and post videos and contents to the Internet for everyone to enjoy. Moreover, we handle the graphic side of GeMUN as well, by creating illustrations, drawings and checking the layout composition.

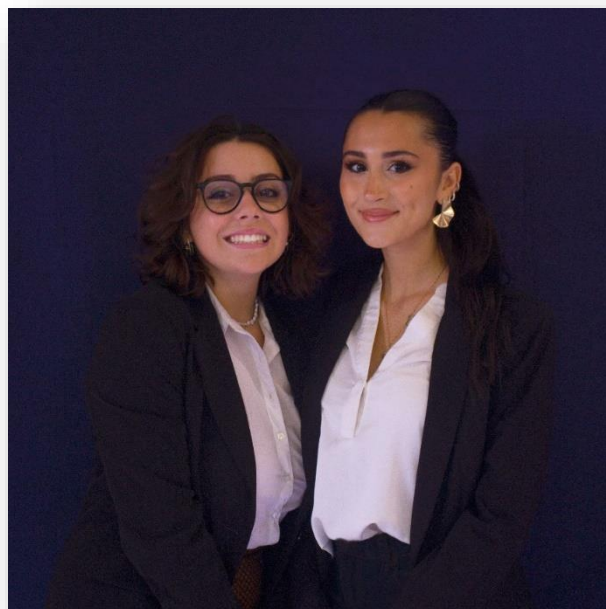

We are honoured to be a part of the 20th session of GeMUN and we look forward to valuing every aspect of this year's theme which is "Echoes of our times". Most importantly, we will do our best to make GeMUN a memorable experience for everyone, taking photos of the astonishing setting in which the event is held and interviewing whoever wants to.

Our gratitude goes to all participants: our MUN Directors, the secretary general Vittoria Valeri and the members of Secretariat, Staff and Security, whose fundamental work allows us to deliver our best.

We hope our work will be appreciated.

Best regards,

Serena Albanese and Federica Rizzi

GENOA

Genoa is sincerely honoured to host an important event such as GeMUN and, at the same time, students from the whole world are lucky to have the opportunity to spend some days in our beautiful city.

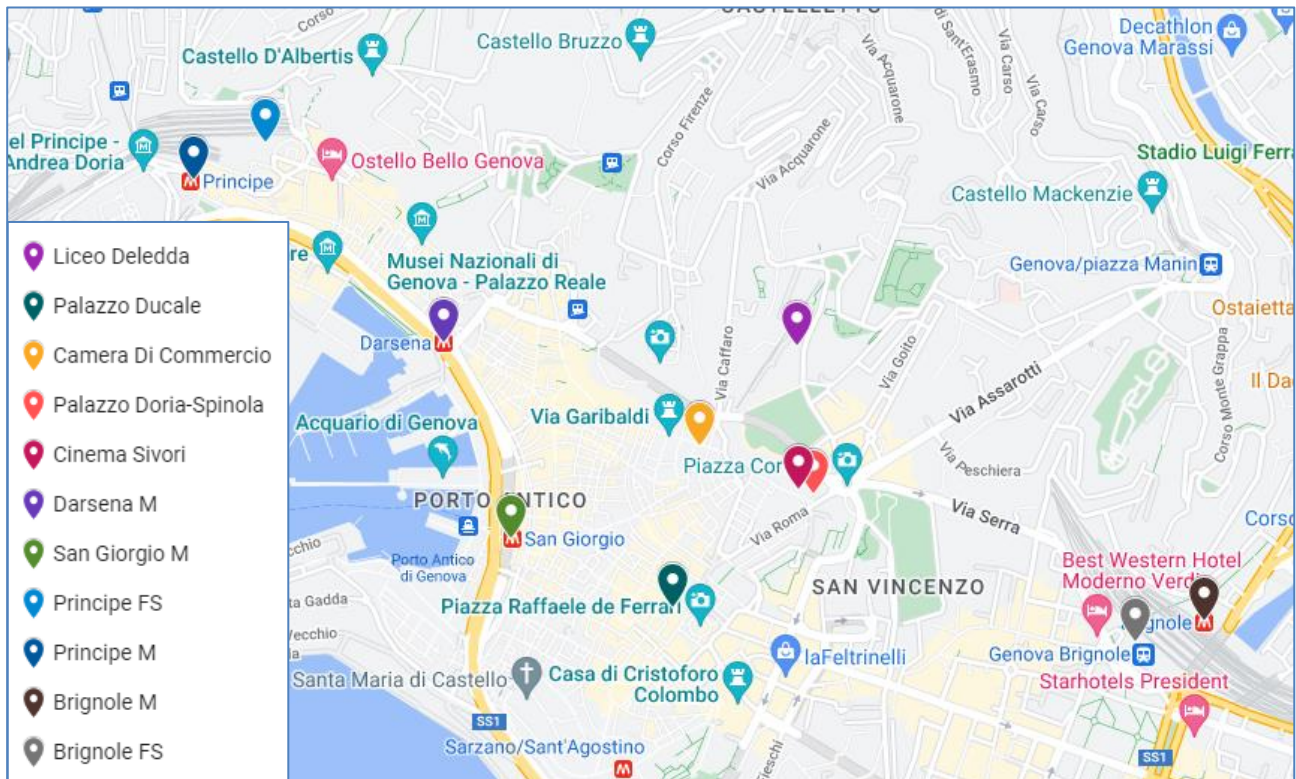

One of the most important ports on the Mediterranean Sea, Genoa is symbolised by its lighthouse: the landmark of the city; the aquarium, the largest in Europe; and the characteristic narrow streets, known as the “Caruggi” in the local dialect.

In Genoa, food plays an important role. If you want to eat the best focaccia in the world, go to Mario in Via San Vincenzo, in the centre. Instead, if you prefer dessert, you can take a walk in Corso Italia until you reach Boccadasse, where you can taste a delicious ice cream looking at the sea.

MAP OF GENOA

Genoa's city center is a UNESCO world heritage site and, as already said, one of the most underrated cities in Italy. It has many marvellous attractions, from palatial baroque churches to incredible sea-side promenades and most people underestimate the true value of the city. Visit the website <https://www.visitgenoa.it> to learn about all the museums, churches, and palaces to visit in Genoa while you take part in GeMUN.

On the map, the subway system is marked with the letter "M". There is also a stop in "Piazza De Ferrari", where Palazzo Ducale is located. The subway system connects Piazza De Ferrari with the two biggest railway stations in the city: Genoa Piazza Principe and Genoa Brignole. There are also some of the most beloved tourist attractions, for instance Via Garibaldi or Christopher Columbus' house. While tourists mainly come to see these attractions, there are many that are not marked on the map. As already said, we recommend visiting the website <https://www.visitgenoa.it> if you'd like to visit this wonderful city.
